Every Jewish child is precious; each is a guarantor that the chain of Torah will endure for another generation. At TBI we mark the entrance of young children into Jewish education with a special ceremony called Consecration (meaning "dedication to a sacred purpose"). Our children are brought to the Sanctuary, welcomed onto the bimah and blessed by our clergy in the presence of their parents, grandparents and the congregation. They also receive a special gift to help them remember this day of celebration!
